A remarkable book. The New York Times. This fearless, deeply reported book about laboratory accidents asks the haunting question: some elite scientists don't want the public to entertain. Did the COVID-19 pandemic start with a lab leak in Wuhan, China? This is an obvious question. Yet there's been an extraordinary effort by government officials in China as well as leading scientific experts in the United States and around the world to shut down any investigation or discussion of the lab leak theory. In private, however, some of the world's elite scientists have seen a lab accident as a very real and horrifying possibility. They know what the public doesn't: Lab accidents happen with shocking frequency. Even at the world's best-run labs. That's among the revelations from Alison Young, the award-winning investigative reporter who has spent nearly 15 years uncovering shocking safety breaches at prestigious U.S. laboratories for USA Today and other respected news outlets. In Pandora's Gamble, Young goes deep into the troubling history and enormous risks of leaks and accidents at scientific labs. She takes readers on a riveting journey around the world to some of the worst lab mishaps in history, including the largely unknown stories of the lab workers at the U.S. Army's Camp Detrick who suffered devastating infections at alarming rates during World War II. And her groundbreaking reporting exposes for the first time disturbing new details about recent accidents at prestigious laboratories and the alarming gaps in government oversight that put all of us at risk. Sourced through meticulous reporting and exclusive interviews with key players including Dr. Anthony Fauci, former CDC Director Tom Frieden, and others, Young's examination reveals that the only thing rare about lab accidents is the public rarely finds out about them. Because when accidents happen, powerful people and institutions often work hard to keep the information secret. The Mining Journal, Railway and Commercial Gazette, 1891 New York Daily Tribune Indexes for ..., 1976 English Mechanic and Mirror of Science and Art, 1871 Canadian Journal of Forest Research, 2015 Metals Abstracts, 1996 Palmer's Index to the Times Newspaper, 1886 Scientific American, 1883 Nature, 1893 Urbanization and Development, 2016 The analysis of urban development of the past twenty years presented in this maiden edition of the World Cities Report shows with compelling evidence that there are new forms of collaboration and cooperation, planning, governance, finance, and learning that can sustain positive change. The Report unequivocally demonstrates that the current urbanization model is unsustainable in many respects. It conveys a clear message that the pattern of urbanization needs to change in order to better respond to the challenges of our time to address issues such as inequality, climate change, informality, insecurity, and the unsustainable forms of urban expansion. Palmer's Index to "The Times" Newspaper, 1891 Covers the period from 1790 to 1905 in The Times of London. APAIS, Australian Public Affairs Information Service, 1995 Vol. for 1963 includes section Current Australian serials, a subject list.
