Private Schools and School Choice in Compulsory Education

Thomas Koinzer, Rita Nikolai, Florian Waldow, 2017-07-03 Marketization and privatization in compulsory education have spread around the globe School choice is seen by many to be the panacea to develop the quality of schools and improve school systems worldwide Additionally in many countries several types of private schools expand and change the school landscapes The articles of the anthology analyse and discuss these changes in several countries and ask to what extent and in which ways school choice and the growth of private school play a role for education policies and education systems Which political and civil society actors are active in formulating and promoting school choice and private schooling And to what extent does the expansion of private schools and school choice address questions of educational inequality and social segregation

Gender and the Changing Face of Higher Education in Asia Pacific Deane E. Neubauer, Surinderpal Kaur, 2019-01-12 This book establishes gender issues as a major focus within developments shaping higher education in the Asia Pacific region The discussion is framed as a response to various dedicated efforts such as that of the United Nations to foreground gender as a site for political discourse throughout the region Throughout the volume authors confront issues that continue to gain prominence in higher education as a policy arena including the degree to which higher education operates within a framework of gender equity and how higher education appointments even promotions are sensitive to gender By touching specific instances throughout Korea Japan China Australia India Malaysia Thailand and Taiwan authors offer an unprecedented big picture view of gender relevant policy issues

The Status of Student Involvement in University

Governance in Kenya Mulinge, Munyae M., Arasa, Josephine N., 2017-05-05 This book examines the concept of the democratization of governance in universities in Kenya with particular emphasis on students involvement in governance processes and decision making Data were collected from members of the student community utilizing a structured self administered questionnaire and from purposively selected key informants and focus group discussants drawn from Kenyatta University representing the public sector and the United States International University representing the private sector The guiding argument for the study was that shared governance one of the principles of good governance is critical in enabling the universities to deliver their visions and the missions effectively The results revealed that while in principle Kenyan universities have embraced democratic governance in which all stakeholders including students have a role to play in practice they continue to violate the core principles of good governance particularly shared governance Specifically students who are major stakeholders in university education are largely excluded from significant structures of governance thereby limiting their influence and participation Although their representation is mainly provided via student self governance organs unions associations and or councils their effectiveness is undermined considerably by the lack of trust and confidence of the student body and the unending manipulation by top university administrators and external political actors Student active involvement in decision making is mainly confined to lower levels such as the school faculty and departmental programme The authors call for a paradigm shift in the involvement of students in the governance of universities in ways that discourage the current culture of tokenism and political correctness that characterizes public and private universities in Kenya

Education in Asia Andrew J. Harding, Jiaxiang Hu, Maartje de Visser, 2017-11-20 Legal education systems like legal systems themselves were framed across Asia without exception according to foreign models These reflect the vestiges of colonialism and can be said to amount to imitating the style and purposes of legal education typical in Western and relatively pure common law and civilian systems Today however we see Asian legal education coming into its own and beginning to accept responsibility for designing curricula and approaches that fit the region's particular needs This book explores how conventional transplanted approaches as regards program design as well as modes of teaching are or are on the cusp of being reimagined and discerns emerging home grown traces of innovation replacing imitation in countries and universities across East Asia Improving a Country's Education Nuno Crato, 2020-11-23 This open access book compares and contrasts the results of international student assessments in ten countries The OECD's Programme for International Student Assessment PISA released the results of its 2018 assessment in December 2019 This book reflects the debates that typically follow the release of these results and focuses on the causes of differences between countries Such causes include continuous decline in one country improvement combined with increasing internal inequalities in another country or rapid improvement in spite of an outdated curriculum in yet another In addition the book discusses a number of general questions Is knowledge outdated Are computers taking over and replacing teachers Are schools killing creativity Are we adequately preparing the next generation Are schools failing to educate our kids The book starts out with a summary of PISA's evolution and PISA results and an explanation of the major factors that play a role in changes in countries results The next ten chapters are devoted to ten specific countries offering a summary of data and an explanation of the major drivers for changes in education results for each one Each chapter includes a short description of the country's educational system as well as the impact of PISA and other ILSA studies on the country's educational policies The chapters also include a timeline of policy measures and main hallmarks of the country's educational evolution discussing the impact of these measures on its PISA results A final reference chapter explains what PISA is what it measures and how While highlighting the 2018 results the book also takes into consideration previous results as well as long term initiatives This book gathers the contribution of well known and respected experts in the field Specialists such as Eric Hanushek for the US Tim Oates for England Montse Gomendio for Spain Gunda Tire for Estonia and all other contributors draw on their vast experience and statistical analysis expertise to draw a set of rich country lessons and recommendations that are invaluable for all of those who care about improving a country s education system
