

ASSETS

Assets are resources owned by a business that have economic value. They are the result of investments made by the business or its owners. Assets are classified into two main categories: Current Assets and Non-Current Assets.

Current Assets are assets that are expected to be converted into cash or sold within one year. Examples include cash, accounts receivable, inventory, and prepaid expenses.

Non-Current Assets are assets that are not expected to be converted into cash or sold within one year. Examples include property, plant, and equipment, intangible assets, and investments.

The accounting equation states that Assets = Liabilities + Equity. This means that the total value of a company's assets must always equal the sum of its liabilities and equity.

LIABILITIES

Liabilities are obligations or debts that a business owes to other parties. They are the result of borrowing money or credit from others. Liabilities are classified into two main categories: Current Liabilities and Non-Current Liabilities.

Current Liabilities are liabilities that are expected to be paid or settled within one year. Examples include accounts payable, short-term debt, and accrued liabilities.

Non-Current Liabilities are liabilities that are not expected to be paid or settled within one year. Examples include long-term debt, pension liabilities, and deferred tax liabilities.

The accounting equation states that Assets = Liabilities + Equity. This means that the total value of a company's assets must always equal the sum of its liabilities and equity.

CONTRIBUTED CAPITAL

Contributed Capital represents the amount of capital that has been provided to the company by its owners. It is also known as Equity or Shareholders' Equity. Contributed capital is divided into two main categories: Common Stock and Preferred Stock.

Common Stock represents the ownership interest in the company. It is the most common type of equity and is held by the company's shareholders. Common stockholders have the right to vote on major corporate decisions and to receive dividends.

Preferred Stock represents a type of equity that has certain preferences over common stock. Preferred stockholders typically receive dividends before common stockholders and have a higher claim on the company's assets in the event of liquidation.

RETAINED EARNINGS

Retained Earnings represent the portion of a company's net income that is retained within the company rather than distributed to shareholders as dividends. Retained earnings are used to fund the company's operations, pay off debts, and invest in new projects.

Retained earnings are calculated as follows: Retained Earnings = Accumulated Profits - Dividends or Drawings.

Retained earnings are a key component of a company's equity and are reported on the balance sheet.

EQUITY

Equity represents the ownership interest in a company. It is the sum of all assets minus all liabilities. Equity is divided into two main categories: Contributed Capital and Retained Earnings.

Contributed Capital represents the amount of capital that has been provided to the company by its owners. It is also known as Equity or Shareholders' Equity.

Retained Earnings represent the portion of a company's net income that is retained within the company rather than distributed to shareholders as dividends.

The accounting equation states that Assets = Liabilities + Equity. This means that the total value of a company's assets must always equal the sum of its liabilities and equity.
