Kombrink, 2022 A cross border approach to exploration appraisal and development is important in mature basins such as the North Sea where the low hanging fruit have long gone This approach emphasizes the need to see the basin as one geological entity in order to maximize economic recovery and prepare the area for the energy transition This volume offers an up to date geology without borders view of the stratigraphy sedimentology tectonics and oil and gas exploration trends of the entire North Sea basin along with the challenges associated with differences in data continuity and nomenclature across median lines This volume includes overviews of cross border play statistics lithostratigraphic naming conventions and exploration performance through to new facies models for cross border areas As such this volume will be a valuable reference for every geoscientist working in the North Sea for years to come

Ice-marginal and Periglacial Processes and Sediments Ireneo Peter Martini, Hugh M. French, Augusto Pérez Alberti, 2011 Understanding the sediments deposited by glaciers or other cold climate processes assumes enhanced significance in the context of current global warming and the predicted melt and retreat of glaciers and ice sheets This volume analyses glacial proglacial and periglacial settings Papers include topics such as sedimentation at termini of tidewater glaciers poorly understood high mountain features and slope and aeolian deposits that have been sourced in glacial and periglacial regions and subsequently transported and deposited by azonal processes Difficulties encountered in inferring Pleistocene and pre Pleistocene cold climate conditions when the sedimentary record lacks specific diagnostic indicators are discussed The main objective of this volume is to establish the validity and limitations of the evidence that is used to achieve reliable palaeogeographic and palaeoclimatic reconstructions On the much longer geological timescale an understanding of ice marginal and periglacial environments may better prepare us for the unavoidable reversal towards cooler and perhaps even glacial times in the future

Dating methods are described and evaluated while the principles and practices of Quaternary stratigraphy are also discussed. The volume concludes with a new chapter which considers some of the key questions about the nature causes and consequences of global climatic and environmental change over a range of temporal scales. They are significant to the local morphodynamics of mountain regions and also to the evolution of sediment routing systems affecting the propagation and preservation of stratigraphic signals of environmental change over vast areas. The volume presents case studies discussing the geology and geomorphology of alluvial and fluvial fans from both active systems and ancient ones preserved in the stratigraphic record. It brings together case studies from a range of continents climatic and tectonic settings some introducing innovative monitoring and analysis techniques and it provides an overview of current debates in the field.
