LEVER (A)

• Gear selection:

This lever can be moved when the tractor is moving. To do this, release the accelerator pedal, disengage, select the required gear, engage the clutch progressively and then accelerate.

IMPORTANT: If you have to leave the driving position while the engine is running you must apply the handbrake and:

- Set the hand accelerator lever to stop.
- Put the gear lever and forward/reverse selector into neutral.
- When moving downhill, always keep a gear engaged, never dis-clutch. The gear engaged should correspond to the one which would be used to climb an equivalent slope.

• Selecting the road (road) and field (forward) ranges:

- The road and field ranges are controlled hydraulically and the ranges can only be changed with the engine running.

- To select the chosen range, move the gear lever (A) into neutral then push it sideways to the right.

- The change in range is shown on the display (the rear or forward symbol lights up).

- The range can be changed while the tractor is moving.

- Changing from road range to field range takes place at a forward speed below 8 km/h (except for ARES 630-640, when it is 5 km/h).

- Changing from field range to road range takes place at a forward speed below 10 km/h.

Note: When the engine is started the range into selected is the same as when the engine was stopped.
