Death Rituals among the Karanga of Zimbabwe

John Chitakure,2021-10-04 One of the inescapable truths that humanity has to grapple with is the reality of death The manner in which we die or the cause of our death may differ but death remains inevitable We may be afraid of it or not we may try to evade it or not but death still comes Although most religions promise the possibility of another life in the hereafter there is no scientifically verifiable evidence about the reality of that life Despite that lack of evidence every culture performs death rituals meticulously to prepare the spirits of its deceased for whatever form of life that may be available Death Rituals among the Karanga of Zimbabwe Praxis Significance and Changes explores the causes of sickness and death and the praxis of pre burial burial and post burial rituals of the Karanga of Zimbabwe in an attempt to unearth their original form and significance to identify the changes that have taken place It also provides a brief manual for the performance of some selected Karanga death rituals

Vowel Epenthesis in Loanword Adaptation Christian Uffmann,2012-02-14 While it is commonly assumed that languages epenthesize context free default vowels this book shows that in loanword adaptation several strategies are found which interact intricately Large loanword corpora in Shona Sranan Samoan and Kinyarwanda are analyzed statistically and the patterns are modeled in a version of Optimality Theory which introduces constraints on autosegmental representations The focus of this book is on English loans in Shona providing an in depth empirical and formal analysis of epenthesis in this language The analysis of additional languages allows for solid typological generalizations In addition a diachronic study of epenthesis in Sranan provides insight into how insertion patterns develop historically In all languages analyzed default epenthesis exists alongside vowel harmony and spreading from adjacent consonants While different languages prefer different strategies these strategies are subject to the same set of constraints however In spreading feature markedness plays an important role alongside sonority We suggest universal markedness scales which combine with constraints on autosegmental configurations to model the patterns found in individual languages and at the same time to constrain the range of possible crosslinguistic variation

The Invention of God in Indigenous Societies James Cox, 2014-09-19 Indigenous societies around the world have been historically disparaged by European explorers colonial officials and Christian missionaries Nowhere was this more evident than in early descriptions of indigenous religions as savage primitive superstitious and fetishistic Liberal intellectuals both indigenous and colonial reacted to this by claiming that before indigenous peoples ever encountered Europeans they all believed in a Supreme Being The Invention of God in Indigenous Societies argues that by alleging that God can be located at the core of pre Christian cultures this claim effectively invents a tradition which only makes sense theologically if God has never left himself without a witness Examining a range of indigenous religions from North America Africa and Australasia the Shona of Zimbabwe the Rainbow Spirit Theology in Australia the Yupiit of Alaska and the M ori of New Zealand the book argues that the interests of indigenous societies are best served by carefully describing their religious beliefs and practices using historical and phenomenological methods just as would be done in the study of any world religion
